Better marking eyed for deadly median

Texas Highway Department officials said last week they are studying ways to better delineate a highway median four miles east of Canyon which was instrumental in the death of a Lubbock truck driver on Monday night.

Richard Crandell, assistant district engineer in Amarillo, said a short-term remedy may be additional reflector buttons and poles to warn motorists of the wide median which runs through the center of Washington Street about ½ mile south of that street's intersection with the Palo Duro Highway.

"We're in the process of looking at it," Crandell said. "It's one those deals. There's no good answer to the median business."

The median, the placement of which causes Washington Street to curve sharply but not to widen, was given as the causative factor in the flaming wreck last week which took the life of Teddy Layne Godwin, a Lubbock truck driver heading for Amarillo.

Highway Patrolman Richard Ayala said Godwin's truck tractor struck the median, veered into a deep barrow ditch, struck a culvert and flipped into the air before striking several trees and coming to rest in a fiery heap about 50 yards from the intersection.

Godwin was dead at the scene.

"A median is supposed to control traffic," Crandell said. "What it gets into is this. A fellow hits the median and has a wreck and immediately we're concerned about that. But, I wonder how many wrecks have been prevented by the median being there."

Crandell said additional reflector devices will be installed to warn motorists of the wide median and narrow road. He said blinking lights will not be used. He was unsure when the devices would be installed.

"It will depend on when maintenance can get around to do it," he said. "I think it will be shortly."

Alvin Kuhlman, who lives about 200 yards north of the intersection, told The News last week he has pulled four cars from the barrow ditch adjacent the median road during the past year, cars which had struck the median.

Kuhlman cited the danger of the intersection and predicted a worsening situation since traffic is becoming heavier on Washington Street.

Motorists approaching the median are warned of a divided highway, but they are not warned to lower their speed. A small reflector which does not indicate the width of the median is placed on both ends of the median. Motorists are not warned, either, about the sharp curve in the road around the median.

"When you hit it there's not much you can do," Kuhlman said. "Something's not right out there."

Another local resident told The News he has hit the median several times during normal travel to and from Canyon.

He said the road width is a big factor in the high accident rate at the intersection. The road, he said, is just not wide enough to accomodate the size median placed in the center of the highway.

3,000 hungry visitors due Umbarger festival

It's festival time in Umbarger today and about 3,000 hungry visitors are expected to descend upon the small German community for generous samplings of its famous sausage and sauerkraut.

And when they come, Umbarger residents will be ready for them.

Townfolk began preparing for the event last September when about 35 cooks put up some 3,000 pounds of cabbage for fermentation into sauerkraut. On Thursday, residents again gathered at St. Mary's Parish Hall, where they transformed about 2,500 pounds of butchered pork into the renown link sausage.

In addition to the two main dishes, the menu includes helpings of green beans, mashed potatoes, gravy, relishes, homemade bread and brownies. Meal prices are $2.50 for adults and $1.25 for children. Children under six years of age will be served free.

A country store, stocked with homemade bread, kraut and other food items will again be a feature of the festival, along with a bazaar offering a wide array of community-made needlework.

Due to the ever-increasing number of mouths to be fed at the festival, coordinators have decided to drop the raffle and fish pond which were once sidelights of the occasion. Last year, the bingo portion of the festival was also eliminated because of the increased attendance, a spokesman said.

Proceeds from the event, as in years past, will be used for projects carried out by St. Mary's Church.

The festivities are set to begin at 11 a.m. and continue until 4 p.m. The parish hall, where the event is held, is located in Umbarger just one-quarter mile north of U.S. Highway 60.

Now in its 21st year, the festival has burgeoned from a relatively small affair into a wingding that draws visitors from throughout the region.

At first handled by the Women's Altar Society at St. Mary's, the festival now involves the entire Umbarger community.

R.D. Friemel headed up pre-festival activities as chairman. Co-chairman was Johnny Beckman.

Mrs. Elroy Artho served as chairman of the sauerkraut division, assisted by Mrs. Carl Hartman.

U.S. 60 redesignation will be talked again

New developments in several Texas and New Mexico cities' quest for a redesignation of U.S. 60 as an interstate highway will be outlined during a meeting Tuesday night in Hereford.

About 10 representatives from Canyon are expected to attend the 7 p.m. meeting to hear John McLelland of Roswell, N.M., explain the latest developments.

It's been nearly a year since local officials met with officials from several New Mexico cities and Texas cities to eye the possibility of redesignating U.S. 60, which runs through north Canyon, a part of the federal interstate system. The proposal calls for the linking of the highway with Las Cruces, thereby providing an interstate highway to the west coast.

Barney Wiegand, chairman of the highway committee of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, said last week he expects McLelland to outline those parts of the federal highway bill passed two to three months ago which affect the redesignation.

"The bill passed has a provision, I've been told, for a feasibility study for the need of the highway," Wiegand said.

He said the bill does not say who will conduct the feasibility study, whether it might be the Texas or New Mexico Highway Departments or some federal agency.

"The Texas Highway Department is putting stuff together now to be ready when the time is right for the study," he said.

Wiegand said funding was included in the bill for the study.

But, he said, the study could be delayed several months just due to slowness of federal operation.

Another new development in the potential redesignation is a proposal from Lubbock to have a direct interstate route from Dallas and Fort Worth to that city.

Splits predicted on constitution

Even though he terms it "a pretty first-rate piece of work," Canyon area State Rep. Bryan Poff believes the document presented legislators recently by the Texas Constitution Revision Commission may be doomed for oblivion.

And, Poff sees himself as one of those legislators who, come Jan. 7, will be arguing that Texas' senators and representatives should do their own research and hammer out their own proposal.

Poff said last week after reviewing a copy of the revision commission's proposal that there is already a movement underway in the legislature, which will sit in constitutional convention for 90 days beginning in January to formulate a new basic set of tenets, to use the commission's proposal as a framework from which to work.

"I don't agree," he said. "I think we ought to do our own research."

But, he says, for the legislators to do their own research would require much more than a 90-day session.

"I'm not personally inclined to start here," Poff said, eyeing the commission constitution.

He believes it would be much more valuable to have the hearing reports and work papers the commission used throughout the summer to formulate the new constitution. The commission held hearings throughout the state. Several Canyon residents appeared at the hearing in Amarillo.

Despite the starting point of the conventioneers, Poff sees a major split developing already around the second, third and fourth articles of the constitution.

Those articles concern the executive branch, the legislative branch and judicial branch of the government.

The median widens and the road curves sharply virtually without warning south of the Palo Duro Highway intersection with Washington Street about four miles east of Canyon. The median was linked last week to the death of a Lubbock truck driver and has been linked to several other accidents.

Fuel shortage rules are talked by city, county, WTSU officials

Short-term measures to conserve fuel began forming in the minds of Canyon governmental officials last week in response to a Presidential plea to save energy. But, some officials were also eyeing possible long-term ramifications of a severe energy crisis for Canyon.

County Judge Woody Pond, City Manager George Loudder and West Texas University President Lloyd Watkins pledged that all that can be done to conserve fuel in their operations will be done and each was to meet late last week or early this week with other officials to establish short-term guidelines for their employees.

But, Raymond Raillard, president of the chamber of commerce, and other local officials foresee potentially adverse and potentially good benefits to be had from a prolonged energy shortage.

Pond, who meets with county commissioners Monday afternoon, said part of their discussion will center around guidelines for county employees and the use of county buildings and vehicles.

A primary concern for commissioners will be guidelines and scheduling for the county road maintenance department, which handles a fleet of vehicles for road repair.

"We could consolidate road equipment a bit more and consolidate the work crews and still maintain as much efficiency as we can without depriving too many people of services," Pond said.

The judge also sees ways to save fuel within the operation of the Canyon courthouse complex.

One idea which might receive discussion, he said, would be staggered work hours or shorter work weeks for county employees.

The county currently uses more than $1000 per month worth of electricity and gas to heat and light the courthouse buildings.

City Manager Loudder said guidelines for city employees will be issued this week outlining methods of conservation of fuel.

While he sees the city's fuel supply as stable, he sees several areas where cutbacks might be made without serious impact in the short-term.

Regulations will cover the use of city vehicles and the control of temperatures in city-owned buildings, he said.

Some of the regulations will simply be reinforcements for existing policies, Loudder said, policies which restrict usage of city vehicles to city business use only, and ensuring when a vehicle is used it is appropriate to the task.

Several months ago Loudder said the city has been eyeing the use of smaller vehicles for all city jobs, except those requiring large equipment.

Loudder said the city has been fuel-conscious for about six months and has, in fact, cut back fuel usage about 10 per cent over that period of time.

Cutting another 10 per cent (outlined by the President as his goal), might be attainable in the short-term, Loudder said, but "I don't think we could do it in the long term without curtailing some services."

WTSU President Watkins, just back from a day-long trip to Austin, said Friday morning he would meet with Financial Vice President Virgil Henson later in the day to begin formulating plans to conserve fuel at the city's biggest fuel consumer — the university.

Although he did not specifically cite any particular conservation measures, Watkins said it has been suggested by Wayne Rankin, president of the WTSU Ex-Students Inc., that the gas-flame torches at the campus entrance be extinguished.

The university's Carol of Lights, a tradition at WTSU, will go on this year, but to conserve energy, the 3000 colored bulbs which outline campus buildings won't be left on through the night as in years past.

"We want to do our part in conserving energy," said Vicki Foster, who heads the Carol of Lights committee. "We know that reducing the hours from almost 12 to three every night doesn't mean much, but it will show the outside world we are trying."

The lights will be turned off on Dec. 26 rather than burning through New Years even as in

Buffs are beaten here by TU Spartans assault

West Texas State University's Buffaloes scored with double zeroes showing on the scoreboard clock Saturday night but it was too little too late as they bowed to Tampa's Spartans before a shivering hometown crowd of 8500 fans.

The Buffs' lone score put only six points on the board while the Spartans were able to place a total of 28 points in lights throughout the game.

A Don Nava pass to Rick Schleider for seven yards provided the solitary touchdown for the Buffs, capping a drive which began deep in West Texas territory with just over 5 minutes remaining in the game.

The scoring drive saw the fleet introduction into the Buffalo backfield ranks of Don Jackson, a quick running back who has seen virtually no action this year, but who tallied 49 yards in 9 carries for the West Texans in their drive to paydirt.

A bad snap from center cheated the Buffaloes out of an extra point in their score.

The Buffaloes held the Spartans during the initial quarter Saturday night and it wasn't until 6 minutes had elapsed in the second quarter that Tampa got on the clock. The Spartans scored again twice in the third quarter and twice in the fourth stasnza to put the game on ice and hand the Buffaloes their seventh season loss.

The Buffaloes tallied 112 yards rushing during the night and Don Nava hit nine of 22 passes for 85 yards in the air. The Spartans hit 230 yards rushing with Quarterback Fred Solomon hitting eight of 13 passes for 180 yards.

Leading Buffalo groundgainer was Jackson with 49 yards while leading the Spartans on the ground was Solomon with 103 yards.

The Spartans led in first downs 17 to 10.

Eagles end year with 30-6 victory

Canyon Eagle defenders read the Muleshoe offense like a book Friday night and set up or scored 14 of Canyon's 30 points as the Eagles ended their season with a 30-6 victory over the Mules before a small crowd in Kimbrough Stadium.

Defenders Steve Mayfield set up one score and Tom Grimes scored for the Eagles for the first defensive scores of the year, while the Eagle offense had a heyday with the Mules in racking up the other points.

Canyon fans got their first look of the season at next year's probable starting quarterback as Garre LaGrone took the signal calling duties from season regular Ed Lair during the final quarter. LaGrone maneuvered the Eagles to within striking distance before the ball was fumbled into the end zone on the final Canyon drive.

50 MPH speed? it's not likely

A White House plea to conserve fuel apparently went unheard for Randall County motorists last week.

Ron Boyter, patrolman with the Texas Department of Public Safety, said Friday motorists are still driving at the 70 mile per hour maximum speed on the county's highways.

"They're not slowing down," he said. "You might see a couple of federal cars or state cars doing 50, but that's about it."

President Nixon had urged the nation Wednesday night to cut speeds to 50 miles per hour to conserve fuel during the winter. The proposal was one of many from the President for saving energy.

"If you're driving on that expressway, you better drive 70 or you'll get run over," Boyter said of the traffic speeds following the Wednesday night talk.

He said he'd given two speeding tickets Thursday and Friday.

Discerning Good, Discerning Evil

By ANN BROWN

From disgruntled people of all ages comes the plaintive cry, "What is life all about?"

Thackeray said, "Life is a mirror; if you frown at it, it frowns back; if you smile, it returns the greeting."

Granted, life is a struggle from the first birth cry to the last gasp. It is an eternal battle between cleanliness and dirt, order and disorder, serenity and turmoil, which all boils down to a ceaseless conflict between the forces of good and evil.

"But," so many young people ask, "how can we know what's good and what's evil?"

Anyone who can distinguish between things clean and dirty, orderly and disorderly, serene and tumultous, should not have too much difficulty discerning good and evil.

The Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule, on which all civilized laws are based, should clarify any confusion as to what's right and wrong — for anyone who really wants to know.

There are, of course, people who prefer dirt, disorder, and turmoil, just as there are those who prefer evil — hence the battle.

Can't good and evil co-exist?

On the same planet, perhaps. In the same household, No. It is like trying to transport fresh water and salt in the same vessel.

The ceaseless conflict between good and evil is the theme of every short story, novel, play, and epic. Even short shorts and four-line poems at least imply the struggle.

But it is the struggle that keeps people vigorous and healthy; when they cease to struggle, they die.

The "plague on both your houses" mood which seems to envelop the majority of Americans is probably responsible for the apathy that is turning our Eagle into an Ostrich. And that Ostrich will be easy prey for the Bear.

The forces for good may be tempted to give up and quit struggling, but history bears record that a faithful few have always persevered.

Life is much like a foreign language: All are prone to mispronounce it. But the student who gives up because he makes mistakes will never speak another tongue.

Epicurus said, "Whoever does not regard what he has as most ample wealth is unhappy, though he be master of the world."

Joseph Newton said, "To live well we must have a faith fit to live by, a self fit to live with, and a work fit to live for."

It is not the explosives men manufacture which threatens to blow our world to pieces, but their ideas. Our danger lies not in atoms — but in ourselves: the materialistic atheism with which Americans regard life.

It makes no difference how much faith we may proclaim; if we deny in practice that this is God's world and to be used for His purposes, we convince no one that we believe in Him.

The plaintive cry of so many young people (and some not so young) is, "I want somebody to love me." But love is not receiving; love is giving. Remember, "God so loved the world that he gave. . ."

The frustrated, unhappy people who are eternally searching for someone to love them usually love others like they love oranges: They squeeze all they can get out of them, and then throw them away.

The assumption that the world is ours to use for our pleasure and do with as we please is more destructive than any bomb. If we start out in life with that idea, nothing will ever come out right. It is like trying to solve a problem in arithmetic on the assumption that 1+1=3.

Good people are no more likely to rid this world of evil than of dirt. But does that justify giving up the struggle?

When do you plan to give up bathing?

Your life is likely to be an exciting experience or a dreary disaster depending on whether good or evil dominates your earthly journey.

Political Season Opens With Senator Visits

City Desk

By CARROLL WILSON

"Southwest Enterprises," the nasal feminine voice said through the telephone.

"Could I speak to Ben Bynum, please."

"Is this call related to legislative matters," the feminine voice asked.

"Yes."

"I'm sorry, Mr. Bynum is not taking calls on the legislature until January."

Mr. Bynum, they tell me, is chagrined because the voters didn't give him a pay raise last Tuesday at the ballot box. The above call was made following the vote count.

Apparently, Mr. Bynum feels that if the voters are only going to pay him $4800 a year, he'll only work on their business a portion of the year equivalent to that amount.

If the voters of Amarillo were paying Mr. Bynum for the work he's worth to them in the past in Austin, his take-home pay would be a lot less than his current pay scale.

The political season begins.

Just this week, three politicians will be in Canyon. Gov. Dolph Briscoe, who has announced he will seek re-election, will be in Canyon at the end of the week. State Sen. Max Sherman will be here early in the week as will Sen. Jack Hightower, who will announce soon he's running against Bob Price for Congress.

The Hightower-Price race will be one of interest. This year, Price won't have an opponent with a built-in albatross as did Graham Purcell with George McGovern. Ray Ruffin, former Amarillo rock star and recording studio owner, will probably be an also-ran.

Hightower has been hoofing it around the Panhandle and the southern end of his hoped-for district, making friends and shaking hands.

Price has sent a surrogate congressman to hear gripes from district residents and he's issued a few press releases denouncing Jane Fonda and supporting President Nixon.

It'll be a close, close race for Price this next November, a November in an off-political season with Watergate still in the public mind.

While it may be nice to have John Connally speak for him, Price probably will gain little from the former Presidential advisor's talk scheduled later this month in Amarillo.

Connally is likely campaigning for John Connally. He's not out of the running for '76 and he knows it.

The fund-raising has begun at West Texas State University.

Canyon bankers sponsored several get-togethers last week for university faculty and staff members. During the course of the evening, the faculty and staff members were asked to pledge an amount to the President's fund at the university.

Apparently, the appeal was handled in a light-handed way and most faculty members came away with a favorable attitude. Some, of course, feel they should not donate anything toward the development funds at the university.

President Nixon has managed to turn our attention from his wrecked White House to the energy crisis. He has affected the kind of change in public opinion we'd been anticipating.

And, he will continue to pound on other problems until Watergate and his image problems are so far in the background the American public will have forgotten what they were so hot about to begin with.

An effective and expected ploy.

But, it should not turn our attention from Mr. Nixon and our relentless pursuit of the truth.

Mr. Nixon must not be allowed to get off the hook simply because he can manipulate public opinion. He is accountable and must be made to understand that — energy crisis and Mid-East war notwithstanding — his conduct as a President is still questionable.

Fish 'n Fowl

By GARY CONNER

Have you ever been told the story about ducks sitting on the hi-line wire? When a man told me a few years back that he saw this happen, I didn't believe it, and I still don't, but I did recall the old story a few days ago as I was sitting in a duckblind north of Friona. Shortly after dawn, I heard a bunch of pheasants rattling as they do every morning, and I looked up and saw a sight that made me look a little more objectively at hunting tales. On some electric hi-line wires about 75 yards away were seven pheasants (4 cocks) enjoying the morning and having a game of king of the mountain at least 30 feet off the ground. I wished for a camera as I remembered the tale of the high sitting ducks told to me years ago. Pheasants yes, ducks no.

Last week was slow for goose hunters, but fast on duck shooting. The geese are coming in more in numbers and there are a few hundred staying on Buffalo Lake, from my observation.

Last week a TEXAS WATERFOWL guided hunt for ducks was successful taking 16 ducks, including mostly pintail, but some mallards, teal, and wedgeon, also. We also had a good close-up of a canvasback that came in, swam around in the decoys, then took off. The geese were slow, with none taken.

— — — — —

For those interested in hunting this weekend, sunrise Saturday will be at 7:17 and sunset at 5:45. Sunday sunrise — 7:18, Sunday sunset — 5:44. Waterfowl hunting is one-half hour before sunrise until sunset.

Pheasant, duck, goose, and quail hunts can be arranged by calling TEXAS WATERFOWL at 353-4527.

Service Set For Mrs. Gist

Mrs. Myrtle O. Gist, 80, longtime resident of Canyon, died early Saturday at LaCasa Nursing Home in Canyon.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Monday at the Canyon Central Church of Christ with Dwyane Dennis, minister, officiating. Burial will be in Memory Gardens Cemetery by LaGrone Funeral Chapel.

Mrs. Gist, wife of the late R.B. Gist Sr., had made her home at 1712 7th Ave. She had lived in Randall County since 1924. She moved here from Happy.

Mrs. Gist was born March 29, 1893 in Kaufman, Tex. She married Roger Burks Gist Sr. Feb. 23, 1924 in Tulia.

She had been a member of the Central Church of Christ, the Work Basket Sewing Club and the SPRY Club.

Survivors include sons, Vance of Alamagordo, N.M., and R.B. Jr. of Canyon; brothers, Emmett LaRoe of Tulia and Homer T. LaRoe of Happy; sisters, Mrs. Ethel Wesley of Happy, Mrs. Pat Evans of Tulia and Mrs. Hallie Dustman of Tulia; four grandchildren, Rodger Gist III, Kathy Gist and Robert Gist all of Canyon, and Chris Gist of Denver.

The family has asked that all memorials be in the form of donations to High Plains Children's Home or their favorite charity.

Mr. Hunkapiller Dies Saturday

W. L. Hunkapiller, 60, of 1902 8th Ave., was dead on arrival early Saturday at Neblett Memorial Hospital.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Monday in LaGrone Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Jimmy Rogers, pastor of the Southside Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Dreamland Cemetery.

Mr. Hunkapiller was born Nov. 1, 1913, at Baldwin, Miss. He moved to Canyon 10 years ago from Booneville, Miss. He was operator of the Fina Service Station at 7 Ave. and 23rd Street in Canyon.

Survivors include his wife, Ruth of the home; sons, Jerry of Sunray and William Ray of the home; daughters, Mrs. Patsy Leonard of Indianolia, Miss., Mrs. Wanda Pace of Amarillo, Wilda Carpenter of Cherokee, Okla., and Charlotte Hunkapiller of the home; four brothers, seven sisters and 13 grandchildren.

"There'll be a division in the convention between those who want freer executive, judicial and legislative branches and on the other side will be the people who believe there should be certain restrictions on the power of government," Poff said. "I don't think either group will be too extreme. Texans still have the desire for as little government as possible."

Poff feels the atmosphere at the legislative convention will be less urgent than it might be were a constitution needed.

Unlike the situation prevailing in the late 1700s, when the U.S. Constitution was formulated on the heels of an Articles of Confederation which had proved itself unworkable, Texans already have a constitution which has been working since the late 1800s.

The problems which Poff expects to see crop up during the constitutional convention will be basically political in nature.

"There's no question you only want one budget type operation," he said. "But, it will be a definite fight over who will do it. Does the governor do it or the legislative budget board?"

Poff expects the constitution which rises from the convention to be one biased in favor of the legislative branch, since legislators are writing it. Yet he feels that recent national problems have shown the advantage of a strong legislative branch in a system of government which seems to gravitate toward a strong executive branch.

Poff does not expect a great deal of lobby pressure during the convention, but he expects groups representing various public office-holders to be in Aus-previous years, she said.

The lights will be on from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. nightly after a ceremony on Dec. 2.

Local Chamber President Raillard predicted that if in the long-term the energy crisis is of proportions portended by some experts, Canyon may be in for an economic effect.

He said high gasoline prices or gas rationing could mean housing for persons who want to live in Canyon but work in Amarillo would become surplus on the market.

Should the gas shortage reach into next summer, he sees it having a dire effect on tourism, which brings millions of dollars into the city annually.

Other officials predict though that a severe fuel crisis might have the effect of keeping Canyon residents shopping in Canyon there by boosting the local economy.

U.S. 60. . .

He said it might be feasible for that route to intersect the proposed interstate from Amarillo to Las Cruces in the Texico area.

Last fall, representatives of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce met with officials from Friona, Hereford, Amarillo, Las Cruces, and Roswell several times to discuss the proposed redesignation.

When asked for support of the project, Canyon approved without hesitating. But, Hereford chamber officials initially were reluctant to go along with the proposal because they were told by Texas Highway Department officials that an interstate route could not follow the current route of U.S. 60 through their city.

Highway Department officials assured Canyon officials that if U.S. 60 were redesignated an interstate it could probably follow the route the current highway takes through Canyon.

Officials from Canyon also met with Sen. Joseph Montoya of New Mexico in a winter meeting in Roswell last year to continue discussion of the proposal.

But, late in the spring, those interested in the proposal found their hands tied until a highway bill was passed by Congress.

Eagles. . .

year, the Eagles nevertheless played a team also severly hampered by injuries. Counseller injured a knee during practice sessions last week and saw no action Friday night.

The Mules made the initial score of the ball game, taking the ball on their first possession of the night and moving 55 yards in 11 plays to score with Quarterback Carey Sudduth going over from the six with about 6 minutes remaining in the first quarter.

An extra point try was no good and it was the last chance the Mules had to score.

Halfway through the second quarter, the Eagles' Mayfield intercepted a Sudduth pass on about the Mule 27 and ran the ball back to the four-yard line. On the next play from scrimmage, Gary Bednorz took the ball over the right side of the line for the initial Eagle touchdown with 6:34 remaining in the first half.

The kick was good and Canyon took a lead it was never to relinquish.

On the ensuing kick-off, the Mules gathered in the ball at the 20 and began a march downfield. Caught at the 36 and unable to move, the Mule punter went back for a kick, fumbled the toss from center and picked up the ball and was hit by tackle Steve McCormick of the Eagles.

McCormick jarred the ball from the punter and Grimes grabbed the loose bobble and ran in for the score with 2:44 on the clock remaining in the half.

Early in the second half, the Eagles again took possession on a Mule punt and in four plays moved from the Mule 40 to the touchdown with Lair running 30 yards on a first and 10 play for the score. With 8:28 remaining in the third stanza, the Eagles led 20-6.

Canyon was halted a minute later after covering a Mule fumble and Scott Wilson kicked a 25-yard field goal to give the home team another three points.

The final Eagle score came with 7:37 remaining in the game as the climax of a 55-yard drive. Lair scored a winning pass to Jimmy Ward for 11 yards and the touchdown. Another good kick and the Eagles held the final margin 30-6.

The Eagles tallied 183 yards rushing during the game while the Mules mustered only 119 yards on the ground. Leading CHS groundgainer was Bednorz with 65 yards in 14 carries, followed by Lair with 38 yards in 7 carries.

Don Long ran 24 times for the Mules but gained a net total of only 40 yards.

The Eagles ended their season with three wins, over the Mules, the Lynx of Spearman and the Demons of Dumas. They had one tie, with Borger, now fighting for its district championship.

A sincere apology to our customers and friends. We made a mistake. Under the pressure of rising prices and competition, rather than raise prices, we decided to maintain prices by using a smaller meat portion like our competitors use. This was a mistake and we are sorry you don't like the smaller portions.
Effective Monday we will raise our prices by 5¢ on small burgers and 10¢ on double burgers. We will return to our larger meat portion and give you a bigger and better sandwich and promise not to imitate our competition any more.
Sincerely,
Ken Land

Buff Roundballers Down Brazil Team

West Texas State University's "new look" basketball team opened its season with a solid 74-55 victory over the Brazilian National team Thursday night in the West Texas State Field House before 1,200 fans.

The Buffaloes were highly impressive with their pressing defense and ball-control offense against the Brazilian team which placed third in the 1972 Olympic games.

The Brazilian team bothered the Buffaloes to a certain extent in the first half with its aggressive zone defense, but Ekker's club rolled in the second half.

West Texas State led 36-33 at halftime, but exploded in the second half to outscore the visitors in that 20-minute period, 38-22.

Reginald Ramey, showing power on both the offensive and defensive ends of the court, tallied 23 points to lead the Buffaloes and pulled in 16 rebounds.

Joe Cosey, a junior college transfer, scored 20 points and directed the Buffalo offense against the zone defense from the front point position much of the game. Howard Taylor, who was the nation's seventh leading junior college scorer last year, tallied 16 points.

"I started playing basketball in the first grade and the game is no longer fun for me," he said. "It has nothing to do with coach Ekker, his coaching staff or the remainder of the team.

"In fact, it is because of my respect for my teammates and coaches that I am giving up basketball. There are players on the junior varsity who have a great deal more desire to play basketball than myself."

Graham played in 10 games last year on the varsity and averaged one-half point per game in his 29 minutes of playing time.

Fiber Fair Begins Wednesday

Three days of exhibits at three Canyon schools begin this week in appreciation of food and fiber.

Randall County Food and Fiber Appreciation Month is in full swing and local agricultural leaders are preparing exhibits this weekend for display Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at Gene Howe, and Rex Reeves Elementary Schools and Canyon Junior High.

County Judge Woody Pond and Canyon Mayor Manly Bryan proclaimed November as Food and Fiber Appreciation Month last week.

City service clubs are to hear about what agriculture means to the county economy during special programs this week.

Children at the two elementary schools and at the junior high are making posters for a contest sponsored by the women's division of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce.

Booths and exhibits go on display Wednesday with the displays remaining at each school for one day. Exhibits will open at 9 a.m. and will continue only through school hours.

Although school children are the primary audience for the exhibits, area residents are also invited to attend, according to Pond.

County organizations contributing exhibits include the Randall County Farmers Union featuring grain sorghum; the Palo Duro Soil and Water Conservation District featuring wise use of natural resources; Randall County Farm Bureau featuring wheat; dairy producers groups featuring an educational exhibit as well as manning the milk and dairy bar; the beef cattle producers and CowBelles featuring the beef industry; pork producers featuring pork production and giving away a hamp and pork loins; several farm wives featuring cotton and wool and natural fiber creations with the aid of Canyon retail merchants; and a new exhibit, the story of sugar from sugarbeets.

Also aiding in the exhibits will be the Canyon Chamber of Commerce and the Canyon Study Club.

WT Alpha Chi Initiates 36 Canyon Students

West Texas State University's chapter of Alpha Chi, national scholastic honor society, initiated 148 new members in ceremonies last week.

Juniors and seniors who rank in the upper tenth of their classes are eligible for membership in the general honor society which admits students from all academic disciplines rather than a single area of study.

Among those admitted to membership were 36 Canyon students, and one from Umbarger.

They are seniors Teresa G. Bryan, Sofia L. Duman, Ginafae Duncan, Laura G. Glenn, Donald D. Harris, Jan E. Harris, Anna B. Howland, Carla L. Ketchum, Anita G. Leonard, Carol B. Mahler, Kathy Rhodes, Reed S. Tolles and Joe D. Williamson.

Juniors Ben W. Bentley, Connie F. Brazzil, Marilyn C. Calliham, Lonnie R. Clark, Nancy J. Clark, Viki J. Cooper, Edna F. Corley, Glen D. Cox, Mickey C. Ely, Betty J. Holcomb, Michael D. Holmes, Janna G. Johnson, Ronald D. Klein and Joyce E. Loer.

State Sen. Due Speech

State Sen. Max Sherman of Amarillo will address a luncheon meeting of the West Texas State University chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, national business fraternity, Monday.

Sherman will speak on "legislation, the constitution and the future," said Frank Shull, fraternity programs chairman.

The buffet luncheon will be served at noon in the Buffalo Room of the East Dining Hall on campus. The price is $3 per plate.

Shull said WTSU faculty and administrators are invited to the luncheon. Reservations can be made through William A. Miller of the School of Business.

Alpha Kappa Psi was organized in 1905 to further a professional attitude through high achievements in business education and activities.

New WT Society To Have Meeting

Members of the West Texas State University Society of Naturalists will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in room 262 of the science building to hear Dr. Horace Bailey, chairman of the biology department, speak on the University of Oklahoma biological station at Lake Texhoma.

The society now has 15 members, according to Joel Harp, president, and anyone — student or non-student — may become a member.

Monday night's meeting is open and the public is invited.

The club plans a field trip over the Thanksgiving holidays to the Corpus Christi area and other Gulf areas.

The society was formed this semester.

Debbie And Willie Hales Gold Star Award Winners

Mr. and Mrs. Jones Hales can now boast that they have four out of five gold stars in their family. That is, 4-H Gold Star Award winners. Debbie, age 14, and Willie, age 19, received the 4-H Gold Star in an awards program held Tuesday in Canyon. Two older sisters, Millie and Linda, were also Gold Star winners. Younger brother, Larry, will be competing for the Gold Star in the future.

The Gold Star award is the highest achievement award given by County 4-H and Becky Hall, County Extension Agent, and Julie Wheeler, 4-H Program Assistant, both agreed that it takes a lot of hard work to be designated for one.

Since ladies usually go first, Debbie's achievements are as follows. She has been in 4-H since she was nine-years-old and is in the 8th grade at Canyon Jr. High School. Most of her interests lie in the homemaking skills, 4-H Dress Revue and clothing projects involving choosing materials and sewing, cooking projects, bake shows and the like. Debbie explained that a bake show is for pastry, dessert items, and breads, with the girls being assigned certain things to make. Food shows allow the girls to choose what they want to cook provided it is not covered in the bake show.

Debbie has entered the Dress Revue every year she has been in 4-H and has been to District twice, once as a winner.

She has two steers that she has raised to show and also raised dairy cows.

4-H awards to her credit are for Clothing, Achievement, Dress Revue, Dairy Foods, and Dairy, and Beef.

When asked what she learned from 4-H, Debbie replied, "To cook and to sew, what every girl needs to know, or they should." Mrs. Hales added that Debbie had learned leadership.

Debbie is a member and vice-president, last year and this year, of the Randell 4-H Club and is a member of Junior Leaders.

Another hobby of Debbie's is cats. There are plenty running around the Hales' home west of Canyon. It seems that her favorite was left by its mother when it was too little to fend for itself. Debbie raised the kitten on a bottle and has a special feeling for that cat now.

Junior leaders is open to all 14-year and over 4-H'ers and strives to teach the boys and girls leadership. They have many projects that they work with and have responsibility for.

Willie has worked primarily with cattle in his ten years in 4-H. He has worked with a steer project almost every one of those ten. In a project like this, a 4-H'er is required to raise a calf and care for it himself. That means feeding and watering and all the things that go with raising a steer are the responsibilities of the 4-H member.

The breeds of cattle that Willie has worked with in his projects are Angus, Hereford, Charolais, and in dairy cattle, Holstein.

All of the steers and dairy cattle raised by Willie and Debbie were to show. They haven't shown many in Amarillo, mostly the Canyon Livestock Show. Canyon is the only area livestock show that has a division for showing dairy cattle, Amarillo used to, but they don't anymore, according to Willie.

4-H awards that Willie has received are Achievement, Agriculture, Veterinary Science, Citizenship and Leadership.

Willie is a member of the Randell 4-H Club, a past reporter for that club, a member of FFA and Junior Leaders.

The judging for the Gold Star Boy and Girl Award is done through the use of the record book that is kept by 4-H'ers. This includes news clippings, pictures, ribbons, and records used in raising livestock and animals.

Saturday night, all the Gold Star boys and girls in District I were honored at a banquet at the Quality Inn in Amarillo. Accompanying them were their parents, county agents and their spouses. Twenty-two counties are represented in District I.

Course Set For Cattlemen On Problems

A two-night short course for Randall County cattle producers is scheduled to begin this week at the county Farm Bureau building.

The course, featuring discussions on diseases and feeding, begins at 7:30 p.m. Thursday night. The second night will be at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 20.

County Agent John Brazzil, who along with Potter County Agent Gaines Franks, is sponsoring the short course, said the program is expected to run about two hours each night.

Program content for each evening will differ.

The short course will feature discussions by local bankers, specialists and cattle producers.

The Thursday night session will feature discussion on cattle parasites by Dr. Bill Clymer, nutritional needs of stocker and range cattle by Dr. Cal Parrott, and handling diseases and stress problems of stocker cattle by Dr. Gene Cope.

The Nov. 20 session will feature Dr. Parrott speaking on new research in the area of cattle nutrition, local bankers Don Max Vars and David Levens speaking on the business side of the cattle market, and a group of local cattle producers discussing ideas for improving operations.

No cost will be charged for the short course.

Girl Eagles Prepare For Season

Canyon High School's Girl Eagles basketball have a tradition for winning state honors and with their season opener less than a week away, Coach Bob Schneider believes they'll continue as in the past.

The Girl Eagles, who last year were runners-up for the state championship, will play two scrimmages late in the week before opening against Valley on Saturday night.

For nearly a month, the Girl Eagles have been on the practice boards and Schneider says his Eagles are itching for competition.

A new rule change shortened the girls' season by two weeks in regular play although leaving their practice time the same. While they could begin practicing Oct. 15, they cannot play until Nov. 15. In the past the season has begun on Nov. 1.

Until the girls take the floor against an opponent, Schneider says a lot of unknowns will remain.

"They're looking normal for this time of year," he said. "The kids are working real hard.

"But," he said, "until they start playing an opponent it's hard to tell. They need to start playing."

Olton will be the first scrimmage opponent on Thursday. Then, Friday, home fans will have their first opportunity to see the girls for 1973. They meet Claude in a scrimmage at 6:30 p.m. in the CHS gym.

The regular season begins Saturday night against Valley, a team which returns five starters from a 1972 state championship team.

Four starters return for the Eagle lineup this fall, including a nucleus of guards and forwards.

Alisha Nelson will return at a forward slot along with Sheryl Gunter. Two returning guards are Lynn Davis and Carla Ratliff.

And, several returning lettermen will be back to add their experience to the team. Carla Swatzell will be back at a forward position, along with Cheryl Adams. Robena Johnson, a 5-11 sophomore who dominated the boards in her 9th grade season last year, is also expected to be on the varsity squad as a forward. Susan Cox and Nickie McCarter, junior varsity starters last year, will fill out the forward squad for the Eagles.

Judy McBroom and Ronda Umberson are returning lettermen to the varsity squad as guards. Kathy Lewis and Denise Hambling, junior varsity standouts last year, will return to the guard bench.

"I feel like we have the experience," Schneider said, "since we have four starters and some lettermen back."

Schneider said the team height is slightly better than in years past for a team which has never been very tall.

"And, we have a little more depth," he said. "This should help us a lot."

During the initial month of practice, Schneider has been watching for that winning combination which has been a hallmark of his teams at CHS, teams which have won the state crown twice and which have been runners up three times.

The Eagles encounter only one district opponent this year, Muleshoe's Mules, a team which returns four starters. The Eagles meet the Muleshoe team twice during the season.

The Mules defeated the Girl Eagles once last year, in the first outing, but Schneider has other plans for this year.

But, a district win will be only the beginning of a tough road for the girls.

Schneider said schools from El Paso now are competing in girls' basketball and whereas before the Eagles have drawn a bye in bi-district action, they will meet an El Paso team in that game this year if they win the district crown.

And, he expects the regional game to be against Stephenville, a team which returns all its players from last year's team.

"We're not looking ahead at all," he said. "We'll take them one at a time and get out of district."

New Annex Key Topic For County

Randall County commissioners are expected to spend a majority of their time Monday dealing with business concerning construction of a new courthouse annex in South Amarillo.

Six or seven Amarillo architectural firms are to make presentations to the commission on their services. The presentations are preliminary steps in the commission's selection of an architect.

Bob Davis of Columbian Securities Corporation, who appeared before the court two weeks ago, will be back to make further presentations on ways to finance the new courthouse annex.

Other items on the agenda include the presentation of a revised plat for an area subdivision, approval of a solid waste disposal site for the City of Canyon, and the canvassing of the returns from last Tuesday's special constitutional amendment election.

Service Held For Former City Resident

Funeral services were held Friday in Olney for Mrs. A.B. Cummings, former Canyon resident who resided in Olney for many years.

Mrs. Cummings died Wednesday in Olney. Officiating at funeral services was the Rev. Lloyd Sensom, pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Olney. Burial was in Restland Cemetery in Olney under the direction of Lunn Funeral Home.

Born in Canyon, Mrs. Cummings lived in the Olney area about 28 years. Prior to that she resided in California for six years. She was a retired school teacher, having taught in the Olney and Newcastle schools.

Survivors include her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Bob McElrath of Fairfax, Va.; three sisters, Mrs. Kathleen Bishir of Columbus, Ohio, Mrs. Horace Lindley of Tampa, Fla. and Mrs. Dannie Mac Hilliard of Tulia, and three grandchildren.

FFA Quiz Team Takes District Win In Dumas Contest

Sporting green thumbs, literally, the four members of the Future Farmers of America Quiz Team, took top honors in the District Quiz Contest held recently in Dumas.

Janet Snider, 9th grade; Darrell Glenn, 10th grade; Gary Hinders, 9th grade; and Stephen Friemel, 9th grade, are first year members of FFA. The green thumbs came as part of their initiation. Only first year students are eligible to be members of the quiz team.

Under the supervision of Jim Walker, quiz team advisor, the team members have studied for the quizzes that involve some 100 questions. The quizzes cover every phase of FFA and parliamentary procedure.

In the district competition held at Dumas, the Canyon team went up against 14 other teams from Amarillo and the surrounding area. This team is the first since 1960 to win a district title.

Saturday the team competed in the area contest at Plainview. The Panhandle area was represented by eight districts. Results of the team's efforts at the area contest were not available at press time.

If the team was successful in the area competition, they will continue on to the state contest to be held Saturday in Huntsville. Only the winning team in the area competition will be eligible to compete in the state contest.

Arts and Entertainment Through the Looking Glass

By ANN MELIN

After sparking a virtual renaissance in theatre arts at Canyon High School, drama coach Chuck Wright is leaving his position there to assume duties in January as a professor of mass media at San Antonio College.

He leaves the drama department with an enrollment that has quintupled since he first went to work at CHS in 1971.

But if that wasn't accomplishment enough, Wright has chosen for his swan song two highly challenging dramatic works unusual for high school fare.

Arthur Miller's taut wartime drama, "All My Sons" is scheduled for performance Dec. 6-7 in the CHS Auditorium. In a race against time, Wright has scheduled a production of Paul Zindel's "The Effect of Gamma Rays On Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds" three days after the Miller drama. Production dates for the Zindel drama are Dec. 10 and 11 in the Intimate Theatre.

Rehearsals are now in progress for "All My Sons." Students are demonstrating such a sensitivity and intensity in their work that Wright says he's afraid something might go wrong. "It's all going so perfectly, I'm worried that something is going to happen before it's all over," Wright said.

"All My Sons" was the first dramatic success for playwright Arthur Miller, preceding his other famous domestic tragedy, "Death of a Salesman."

The drama portrays a factory owner torn between devotion to his family and responsibility to society. Actor Ed Begley created the role in the 1947 production of Joe Keller, a grassroots family man who stands accused of murder when his factory ships out over a hundred defective airplane parts which contribute to a fatal crash killing 21 soldiers.

In "Marigolds," Zindel has created a work that has been described as "the most compelling" of its kind since Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie." The play won a Pulitzer Prize for its author, and was also the recipient of the New York Drama Critics Circle Award.

In "Marigolds," Zindel creates an intimate portrait of an embittered mother venting her pain and frustration on her two sensitive daughters.

A recent film version of "Marigolds" was a highly-successful family project for the Paul Newmans. Actor Newman directed his wife Joanne Woodward in the part of the mother and his daughter in the role of Matilda, the young daughter whose absorption with the miraculous world of atoms and scientific phenomena has elevated her from the compost heap of her own domestic existence.

The CHS cast for "All My Sons" includes Steve McDaniel as Joe Keller and Julie Whittington as his wife, Kate. David Anderson plays the role of the couple's son, Chris, who finds himself living in the shadow of his brother, who was reported missing in action three years before, but whose presence is kept alive by a mother who refuses to reconcile herself to the loss.

Tonya Hunter portrays Ann, the former girlfriend of the dead brother and the daughter of Keller's co-worker who was sent to prison for the wartime crime he insists he didn't commit. Her brother, George, is played by Lynn Williams.

Others cast are Vern Dewees as Dr. Jim Bayless, Nancy Duncan as Sue Bayless, Glen Holcomb as Frank Lubey and Tarri Bond as Lydia Lubey.

The cast for "Marigolds" includes Melissa Wright as the mother, Judy Batenhorst as Ruth, Brenda Brooks as Tillie, Sue Green as Janice and Carole Coleman as "Nanny."

Assisting in the direction of "Marigolds" is Karen Gamblen, student teacher in the CHS drama department.

Maybe because it's his rather luckless duty of collecting taxes in Canyon that Conway Kuykendall turns to creating beautiful objects in his spare time. His creative hobbies include mounting delicate butterflies in frames and turning those old post office boxes into attractive coin banks.

With the same enthusiasm that prompted Kuykendall to buy out several smalltown post offices to get at their antique mailboxes, the tax collector is now pushing the Rotary Club's arts and crafts fair and fleamarket, scheduled all day Saturday in Rex Reeves Elementary School's All-Purpose Room.

One of the more artistic-minded Rotarians, Kuykendall was the club member who first suggested the club sponsor an annual event to promote the arts in Canyon. The first art fair was held last year.

Anyone wishing to display and sell his works may do so by purchasing a 10 by 8 foot booth at the fair at a fee of $6.

Exhibitors are asked to furnish their own tables and displays. They may team up and share booth space with a friend at no extra charge, Kuykendall said.

No commission will be charged on sales and no ceiling is placed on the prices one may charge for his wares, he added.

Baked foods for sale must be packaged for carry-home only, he said. Rules stipulate that no foods be sold and eaten at the booth site.

For those who don't want to man their own booth, Kuykendall said that Rotary members will be available to take charge of the display if needed.

Space rental and other information may be obtained by contacting Kuykendall at 655-4431 or 655-4228.

Club Hears Fairchild

Mrs. Myron Dees, president, opened the regular meeting of the University Study Club held Friday at the Episcopal Student Center. She led the members assembled in the club pledge and read Michael 6, verse 8 as the president's scripture choice for the year.

"Color Me Curious" was the theme for the meeting and fall colors were carried out in the decorations and hostesses' corsages. Hostesses for the meeting were Mesdames Gilbert Irlbeck, Allen Winters, Ray Eller, Tom Keeling, and Lee Roy Moreland.

Friday was declared as Guest Day and those guests present were Mesdames Lynn Guy, Mary Watkins, Phyllis Goettsch, June Southern and LaVon Fassauer.

A display of scrapbooks from years past was provided by Mrs. James Jokerst, Fine Arts Chairman.

Dr. Louis Fairchild, Associate Professor of Psychology at West Texas State University chats with Mrs. Tom McClure of the University Study Club after a talk he gave at the club's regular meeting Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Tom McClure introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Louis Fairchild, Associate Professor of Psychology at West Texas State University. Dr. Fairchild gave a speech titled "Parents As Models of Aggressive Behavior."

In the opening of his speech, he added that he would be giving examples of the effects of physical punishment on children that coincided with the majority of his talk on aggression.

One of the problems he cited involved his view of the parent's attitude towards the behavior of young people today. They think that kids have it better than they did. Actually, with facts and figures to support his testimony, Dr. Fairchild pointed out that the 2nd leading cause of death in young people is suicide and that the number of cases involving mental illness in youth had risen 150%.

"I believe that there is a qualitative difference between the behavior of kids today and that of their parents' generation. Parents expect their children to change within changelessness, and a lot of them are changing outside the realm of changlessness." An example Dr. Fairchild cited was that kids didn't change from Methodists to Presbyterians, they had given up religion itself.

In his experience with college students, he stated that students regard discipline in child rearing as being of major importance. Dr. Fairchild told the audience that "What kids need today is discipline, but some parents are not interested."

Acclaimed Mezzo-Soprano To Appear On Canyon Community Concerts Series

By ANN MELIN

Mezzo-soprano Marvellee Cariaga, described by one conductor as having what could be "the greatest voice of the generation" will perform Wednesday in the second offering on the Canyon Community Concert Association series.

Her appearance is slated at 8 p.m. in Ordway Auditorium at Amarillo College.

Miss Cariaga's name first burst upon the national opera scene in December, 1972 when the young mezzo-soprano from California sang the title role in "Medea" as a last-hour replacement for diva Irene Dalis in the world premiere of Alva Henderson's new opera in San Diego.

Hailed as an "overnight star," Miss Cariaga received standing ovations for her performance and The Daily Press in San Diego and Los Angeles chronicled her triumph. Reviews praising her performance subsequently appeared in Opera News and Opera, the leading English language magazines in the field.

Although Medea was Miss Cariaga's first starring role, she is no newcomer to the lyric stage. She made her operatic debut, as the Witch in "Hansel" at Los Angeles' Shrine Auditorium in 1965 and has sung leading roles in a number of prestigious West Coast stages including the Music Center in Los Angeles, the Hollywood Bowl, Seattle's Opera House, Queen Elizabeth Theatre in Vancouver and several other prominent houses.

She first joined the San Diego Opera in 1970 singing opposite Norman Treigle. This fall, she will join the roster of the San Francisco Opera and will sing her first Amneris in "Aida" on the East Coast. Her fourth and longest cross-country recital tour is scheduled January - April, 1974.

No stranger to the touring circuit, Miss Cariaga has given over 65 recitals for Community Concerts in the three seasons beginning in Oct., 1970. She has received wide critical acclaim from the press for her musical expertise. The Spokane Spokesman-Review cited her "superior vocal control and ability to create and sustain emotional intensity." The Los Angeles Times hailed her as a "young artist with a world of stage presence" and lauded her "Samson and Delilah" aria as "shimmering and senuous."

Richard Lert, the veteran conductor who led performances in Berlin and Frankfurt in the golden operatic age between the two world wars, summed up Miss Cariaga's talents after he had engaged the young singer for a series of Handel performances with the Pasadena Symphony in 1960. Upon hearing her sing, Lert is said to have cited Miss Cariaga as having what could be "the greatest voice of the generation."

Her program for the CCC performance will include selections ranging from operatic arias to a work composed by American folk singer Pete Seeger.

Programmed for performance are works by Handel and Schubert, arias from "Samson and Delilah" and Gian Carlo Menotti's "The Consul," excerpts from Samuel Barber's "The Hermit Songs" and John Cage's "The Wonderful Widow of Eighteen Springs."

12 CHS Choral Students Named All-Region

This year's All-Region Choir will include 12 students from Canyon High School who were selected for the honorary ensemble in auditions held recently in Amarillo.

According to CHS choir director Tom Jennings, auditions this year were more highly selective than in previous years. The All-Region Choir has been streamlined from a former 128-voice group to a 96-voice one.

The All-Region Choir is comprised of top students of the seven AAAA and three class AAA school ensembles in the region, Jennings said.

CHS All-Region Choir members include first soprano Debbie Moreland, second sopranos Julie Whittington and Judy Batenhorst, second alto Edna Glovier, first tenors Phil Davis, Ricky Mantooth and Vern DeWees, second tenor Marty Widick, baritones David Lindley and Richard Smyrl and basses Kelly Forehand and Glen Holcomb.

The 12 students will participate in performances by the All-Region Choir scheduled Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 in the Amarillo High School Auditorium.

Jennings said he soon plans to select four top students in each of the choral sections to try out for the All-State Choir. Auditions for the statewide ensemble are scheduled January 12 in Lubbock.

Briscoe Due For Speech On WT Campus

Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe will highlight the annual meeting of the Panhandle Economic Program set Friday at West Texas State University.

Briscoe is expected to make a speech at 1:30 p.m.

Registration for the day, with activities in the university activities center, is at 8:30 a.m. with the morning session beginning at 9:30 a.m. Attendance is free.

The Panhandle Economic Program (PEP) is a voluntary organization of area leaders in agriculture, farm life and agriculture-related industry who are concerned with the economic and social growth of the Panhandle, according to R.B. Dawson, Jr., vice chairman of the group.

State Sen. Max Sherman will speak to the gathering on activities of the recently created Regional Water Council.

The governor's address is expected to center around the role Texas will play in the nation's agricultural future.

Dawson said PEP works to achieve a more efficient use of resources, to identify problems and opportunities related to the use of the resources, to develop plans of action and to evaluate the effectiveness of the action.

The Friday meeting is open to all area persons interested in the economic and social future of the Panhandle.

The program is designed to allow for citizens to exchange ideas with experts on present and future trends in beef cattle, grains and family living.

Tickets for a noon luncheon are available locally through John Brazzil, Randall County Agent.
